Before he could be prevented he placed a pistol to his own head and blew out his brains.

A Small Charity.

Among the bills introduced and referred in the house to-day was one by Ryan of Kansas admitting free of duty clothing and other articles destined for the relief of colored immigrants.

John Morton and the San Francisco Collectorship.

There is a brisk contest going on in the senate over the nomination of Morton to the collectorship of San Francisco. Booth opposes the confirmation with much vigor. He bases his objection mainly on the ground of the want of sufficient residence to justify such an important appointment. There is a strong disposition among the old friends of the elder Morton, without regard to their relations to party or to the administration, to vote for the son's confirmation. Meanwhile, Booth stands on his rights as a senator and claims that the courtesy usually extended to senators in case of obnoxious nominations, shall be extended to himself and his democratic colleague whom he has induced to take sides with him. Some of the particular friends of Morton have also been among those who have often claimed the same thing in the senate which Booth now asks, and have always received consideration, and the present contest places them in an embarrassing position.

Bills in Committee.

WASHINGTON, Jan 13.—The house banking committee has agreed to report Page's bill authorizing the conversion of national banks. The senate committee on appropriations has agreed to recommend an increase of $500 000 on the amount voted by the house of representatives for the preservation and repair of fortifications, but to vote down the recommendation of a sub committee for increase of the amount appropriated by the house ($470 000) for their armament. The committee will also report for passage the bill of Senator Davis to relieve the U. S. treasury and several states from any further accountability for moneys deposited with the states under act of June 23, 1836, making that disposition of surplus revenue then accumulated in the federal treasury.

The Indian Commission Church-selected Agents.

The board of Indian commissioners called upon the president and after discussing the Indian question with him, offered a recommendation that religious bodies be permitted to select agents for Indians. A conference was held between the members of the board and Secretary Schurz. The charges of mismanagement preferred against Indian Commissioner Hayt were considered and a committee appointed to investigate them and report to the board to-morrow.

The Utes Going Eastward—Gen Adams Talks of the Outrage.

CHICAGO, Jan 10.—The Utes en route to Washington passed through this city to-day. General Adams who arrived this afternoon confirms the stories of the nameless indignities which the white women suffered at the hands of their Indian captors. He says that the women very unwillingly made full statements to the commission of the circumstances with the understanding that it should not be published. Mrs. Meeker however [illegible] told the story herself. [illegible] that they had been fairly dealt with.

Hon Geo H Williams Recovering from Severe Sickness.

Ex Attorney General Williams, who has been seriously ill for about a fortnight with a complication of pneumonia and malaria, is now improving and his physicians say that his recovery is only a question of judicious treatment and continued good nursing. Mental strain caused by overwork in connection with some important cases before the supreme court greatly aggravated his illness.

A Bill to Abolish the Klamath Indian Agency and open the Reservation to Settlement.

WASHINGTON, Jan 11.—Representative Berry will to-morrow introduce a bill to abolish the Klamath Indian reservation in California. The bill directs the secretary of the interior to cause the whole of the reservation to be surveyed and opened up immediately for disposal under the homestead and preemption and mining laws. The actual settlers are to be allowed to date back their applications for homestead and preemption entries to their respective periods of occupancy but the claims must be made to conform to government rectangular surveys and be limited by all other requirements of existing laws.

Attempt to Stop Wells, Fargo & Co's Letter Business.

WASHINGTON, Jan 10.—The report of Special Agent Sharett to the postoffice department concerning Wells Fargo & Co's delivery of letters in the Pacific coast sets forth the magnitude of their business in this respect by stating that they purchase on an average 200 000 stamped envelopes per month in San Francisco and doubtless proportionate numbers in Portland, Salt Lake City and other places. The grounds upon which the department is asked to interfere with this business are as follows:

First, that Wells Fargo & Co do not pay a double rate of postage and consequently their stamped envelopes, which they sell for five cents, contain often more matter than would pass through a postoffice for three cents.

Secondly, that the company's correspondence between its various banking houses is carried free and that besides the Western Union Telegraph Co and the Central Pacific R. R. have an arrangement with the express company by which their letters are transported without cost, thus depriving the government of postage which it should receive.

Thirdly, it is alleged that about one fifth of the express company's 500 agents on the Pacific slope are postmasters and that they are accountable by law for selling stamped envelopes at higher prices than the government charges.

A committee of prominent postoffice department officials has been appointed to examine this subject and it will be thoroughly examined, but it does not seem to be generally expected that they will discover any statute authorizing material interference with the existing business, and in view of the formidable litigious resources of the company and the opposition already indicated on the part of California representatives against the suggested curtailment of business facilities of the company's constituents it is probable that the committee will move in the matter very cautiously.

MATTERS IN MAINE.

General Chamberlain Assumes Charge of the Government.

Exposure of Alleged Attempts at Bribery—Desperate attempts to raise a Quorum in the House.

THE STATE TREASURY LOCKED.

Senator Blaine Indignantly Denies an insinuation of Trickery against him. The general status of Affairs at Augusta [illegible].

[illegible] Jan 9.—An Augusta [illegible] says that [illegible] twenty-four hours [illegible] power of the [illegible] Chamberlain [illegible] until his business was known.

This morning politicians are somewhat nervous and fusionists are a little panicky. Some of them are anticipating a struggle for possession of the house while all are eager for promised bribery revelations.

This morning when the house met no republican was in the hall and Mr Lock was the only one in the senate. This at once gave a clue to the republican policy. As soon as the reading of the journal was finished Swann of Mechanics Falls rose to a question of privilege and gave a story of an attempt to bribe him. The name of the accused party is Wallace R. White of Winthrop, republican lawyer.

Gen. Chamberlain Assumes Charge of Affairs.

AUGUSTA, Jan 9.—Early this morning Maj Gen Chamberlain issued a general order stating that in view of the extraordinary situation now presented at the seat of government he would assume command and protect the public property and institutions of the state in trust for the people until the governor's successor has been legally elected and duly qualified. By this order Gen Chamberlain assumes temporarily the office of governor and commander in chief. The entire police force at the state house was changed this morning, those [illegible] by Chamberlain taking the places of those who have been drilling there several weeks. The change was quietly made. The vote on the bribery order was reconsidered in the senate this morning.

Swann and Harriman Relate Attempts to Seduce their Virtue—Their Statements Received in the House with Applause.

AUGUSTA, Jan 9.—A statement by Swann in the house to-day relative to an attempt to bribe him is substantially the same as his affidavit with the following additional points. A reliable member of the house told him that Wallace R. White had offered him $1 000 cash to resign as a member. The member refused to accept. He (Swann) upon hearing this, consulted with Secretary of State Gove and with Solon Chase, and drew up the affidavit already sent alleging bribery by White. He then had the member intimate to White that he (Swann) would resign for $1,000, and a meeting with White was had at the court house at 10 A. M. the next morning and White taking him into a corner room showed him the following statement:

AUGUSTA, Jan 6.

To the Chairman of the Democratic Greenback Caucus:

After mature deliberation I have concluded that it is my duty as a citizen to obey the laws as they are construed and decided by the supreme judicial court. I cannot therefore lend my aid to keeping out of their seats republican representatives elect whom by the ruling of the supreme court are entitled thereto. I therefore give public notice that I will not participate in the organization of the house, being fairly and fully determined to obey the mandate of the court as to resist that mandate is revolution destructive both to my party and the great interests of the state.

(Signed) THOMAS B SWANN.

He informed me that I would have to write a statement like it and sign same and also sign my resignation and deliver up my certificate to him. He said that they should not want to use the resignation but wanted it to show that I acted in good faith and that after the house was organized I could take my seat and the republicans would put me upon important committees. I informed him that I would sign the papers and he said that he had to go and get the money. He left the room and returned in about 20 minutes and said it was all right. He then read to me and I copied in my own hand letters to the chairman of the democratic and greenback committees. He also read a resignation which I copied. I put said letters without my signature into my pocket. We then counted the money and found it correct. I then signed the paper and took the money. He said that he wanted some more men and wanted to know if I knew of any he could get. I told him I thought he could get Harriman of Kennebunk. He told me to see him and come with him at 1½ o'clock. I then left and called at the Augusta House to see if I could find Harriman but did not find him. I then went direct to the state house and found E. H. Gove and made the following statement:

I Thomas B Swann, in the presence of Hon Solon Chase and Hon E H Gove make the following statement. I have this day been approached by an agent of the republican party to resign as a representative, for money. I am going to take the money to-morrow and thus show to the people the fraud and corruption of the republican party. I expect to have another party also take money for the same purpose.

(Signed) THOMAS B. SWANN.

We went to the Augusta House and found Harriman and told him what had taken place and he agreed to go with me and take money and expose the fraud. I went to dinner and then returned to the Augusta House, where I again found Harriman, and not far from 2 o'clock we went toward the court house. Before we reached it I showed him White standing on the porch. White went into the building and so did Harriman. As I passed by the court house White stuck his head out of a window of some corner room and motioned to me and I answered the motion with a nod of my head. I then went to the Granite National Bank taking the money which had been paid and bought this draft on Boston. I do not claim this money, and it is subject to the order of the person who furnished it.

Swann was followed by Harriman of Kennebunk who displayed a roll of bills he had received, the house applauding.

The speaker called for order, declaring that such a shameful story ought not to be received.

In an impressive manner Harriman called upon God to witness the truth of his statement as to the facts and his intentions when receiving the money.

Clark of Nobleboro next rose and made a similar statement regarding an attempt to bribe him with a promise of money and a customhouse office.

In the house to-day a large number of remonstrances were presented by persons claiming seats in the house.

March of Ellsworth claims the seat of Eugene Hale.

A committee of five was appointed to investigate the attempted bribery of members and a committee of fifteen appointed on the gubernatorial vote.

There was less than a quorum in the house at any time and the session dragged, several members sending for their lunch. The house remained in continuous session although but few members were in their seats.

In the senate petitions were presented from John I. Wallace Jr. of Washington county claiming a seat.

The president stated that it had been intimated that after the adjournment the senate chamber would be taken possession of and that necessary precautions would be taken to prevent it.

House Proceedings of the 9th Inst.

AUGUSTA, Me., Jan 9.—The committee appointed on gubernatorial votes are Atwell, Lynn, Thompson of Knox, Barrett, Locke, Lingley and Flint. The committee on senatorial votes who will proceed at once with their duty are Strickland, Patton, Thompson of Knox, Rankin, Coombs and Lampson.

Seventy two members only appeared this morning in their seats, all fusionists.

The house attempted to exclude all but official reporters but several were smuggled in.

Thomas B. Swann of Minot arose and read a statement that $1000 had been paid him [illegible] at the organization of the legislature. He stated that the money had been paid him by Wallace White of Winthrop and that he (Swann) should not claim it. Harriman of Kennebunk testified that the same offer had been made him by White.

Who Gen. Chamberlain Is.

[illegible], Jan 9.—General Chamberlain who is now virtually governor of Maine and will be pending the solution of the difficulties, was major general during the war, president of Bowdoin college and [illegible] though not extreme republican. He [illegible] by various prominent [illegible] of Maine [illegible] plans or counting [illegible].

Implicated in What?

NEW YORK, Jan 9.—The Boston Herald's dispatch from Augusta, Maine as published [illegible] says that [illegible].

Friday spent by the Fusionists in Waiting, Simply Waiting.

[illegible] Jan 9.—The house continued [illegible] all the afternoon waiting for a quorum. No [illegible] with anxiety [illegible] Mr. [illegible] Sir [illegible] affairs had [illegible] extremely [illegible] at the [illegible] could be expressed and [illegible] that the [illegible] swooped down upon them and capture the government. A committee was appointed to wait on Maj Gen Chamberlain in regard to the condition of affairs [illegible] would not [illegible] but that he will do his duty [illegible] the house was evidently anxious [illegible] a quorum.

The fusionists again sent for Mr. Voter of [illegible] who has [illegible] refused to take his [illegible] waiting for Voter [illegible] a quarter to 6 the house adjourned [illegible] transacting the least item of business during the [illegible].

The Treasury Locked—The Fusionists Confused—Armed Men Discovered in the State House.

[illegible] has been seized is false.

Pillsbury Charged with Libel.

Hon. Lewis Barker in behalf of a client [illegible] Ezer Soaul of [illegible], has entered complaint of F. E. Pillsbury of the Maine Standard for a libel based upon an article in that paper charging bribery. Personal notice will be made on him this [illegible] to-morrow and he will be tried in Penobscot county.

A Flat Denial from White, the Alleged Briber.

PORTLAND, Me., Jan 10.—An Advertiser special says that it is understood that White accused of bribery will reply that he received the resignations and certificates as stated but that [illegible] the alleged interviews and that the story of money payments is a pure falsehood.

Frantic Struggle for a Quorum.

AUGUSTA, Jan 11.—It is hinted that the programme of the fusionists will be to send the sergeant at arms from the house to arrest either Eugene Hale or Fred Yeaton or both, and bring them to the house to form a quorum. It is now utterly impossible to secure a quorum and as the presence of republican members is secure and that seems hardly possible as the failure to secure a quorum thus far had more strongly intrenched the republicans in their position. The fusionists will exhaust every possible means to obtain a quorum.

Saturday's Proceedings—The Armed Men in the Library Prove to be Simply Guards.

A special says: In the house when called to order there were but [illegible] four members present. The republicans were all absent and visitors were admitted by ticket from Gen Chamberlain. At 3.20 the house adjourned until Monday at 11 o'clock. The senate adjourned until Monday. A resolution was passed providing for a committee on state valuation. Mr. [illegible] objected to such appointment, when cities were not represented.

There are said to be some hundred stands of arms concealed in the large storage room connected with the state library, and a guard of some six to ten men armed with muskets placed over them. Mayor Nash objects to these men remaining armed in such a manner while the police force is on duty and was in consultation with Gen Chamberlain in regard to their removal.

A letter has been received by a fusionist from A. P. Gould in substance as follows: Say to all that in my opinion the governor and council should be chosen before action is taken on filling any vacancy. I also think the opinion of the judges should be entirely disregarded. We must hold the state government at all events if it can possibly be done fairly. Let not a republican be seated in either house if he can be excluded upon fair legal grounds.

A Prompt, Fearless and Full Denial from Senator Blaine.

BOSTON, Jan 11.—Senator Blaine in reply to an insinuation that he is implicated in the alleged bribery cases in Maine telegraphs as follows:

Whatever the form or phase of accusation I pronounce it an unqualified calumny and merely part of the monstrous wicked unparalleled conspiracy to deprive a free people of their suffrage by fraud, forgery and perjury. I am busy night and day in the task of thwarting the conspiracy and it is merely a part of their dastardly and despicable course to invent some form of slander against me. I have not seen the charge, but I know it is a lie out of whole cloth. I cannot now be diverted from the real work in hand to do more than denounce the calumny and its authors.

A KEARNEY BLAST.

The California Hoodlum Again in Washington—"The Republican Party Iron Hoofed and Shod in Hell."

(SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.)

WASHINGTON, Jan 10.—Denis Kearney, in his speech before the greenback-labor delegates yesterday said that they were here to attend to business and to carry out their purpose when they go home; not to shout here and get home to lean up against a bar. He related an anecdote about his advice to a man on a sailing ship to put his bible in his pocket and work the pump. They were all bound for the same port,—the White House which they intended to capture. The republican party was run by national bank directors, iron hoofed and shod in hell (applause) and the democratic party were their emissaries. "You," he said, "you mudsills and muttonheads of society, have been driven up year after year like sheep in California." He had formed a party to capture the capitol and they did it. He did not intend to use big words and he might as well say that he was a greenbacker and that he believed that the directors of national banks should be sent to the lowest regions of hell and that then men if they had the courage should hang John Sherman for attempting to fill an office he is not fitted for. (Loud applause.) He admonished them not to be bought off when voting time comes, adding that these adventurers would attempt to buy them off by sending a nice young lady to them if they could not reach them another way. To-day they found every man who had stolen a dollar in favor of a strong government and such a move to the labor party would give them a government of the people by the people and for the people. [Renewed applause.]

Another Speech and More Originality.

At the night mass meeting Kearney repeated substantially the same speech, together with some characteristic remarks on the Chinese question. These utterances were much applauded. He also made a remark which seemed to be especially appreciated by the meeting to the effect that he wanted a dollar based upon a potato or a head of cabbage, and not upon a bit of gold which was only useful to stick in a woman's ear or a man's tooth.

TOTAL ECLIPSE OF THE SUN.

Interesting Account of the Totality as it Appeared near Fresno, California.

(SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan 11.—A Call special from Fresno in the line of the totality of the eclipse of the sun says that the moon passed ten miles north of this place; weather perfectly clear. At 15 minutes to 3 the first contact was visible and at 3.5 the obscuration became total. As the last ray of the sun disappeared a corona of clear white light entirely circling the moon flashed into view, brilliant at the edge of the moon and paling towards the outer limit of the halo. Next along the border of the lower left third of the moon appeared an irregular fringe of brilliant sparkling primitive red and purple light, while at the top of the moon was a bright yellow triangle of light, equal in hight to one-sixth of the diameter of the disc. A similar but smaller triangle appeared at the center of the right side, and from the upper and lower right sides projected broad faint rays. This appearance lasted 31 seconds. The corona remained a few minutes longer. The sun disappeared behind the coast range before the eclipse had entirely passed. During the obscuration the horses of the party showed signs of extreme fear, and the fowls of the neighboring ranches sought their roosts. At Salinas where the eclipse was also total the thermometer fell eight degrees during the totality.

THE MURDER OF SWANGER.

FULL DETAILS OF THE ATROCITY.

The Dead Body of the Poor Old Man Horribly Mutilated.

INVESTIGATION PROGRESSING AT HILLSBORO.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE OREGONIAN.]

HILLSBORO, Jan. 14, 1880.

On last Thursday, January 8th, Mr. Jacob Swanger, an aged citizen of Washington Co., was found murdered and horribly mutilated in his cabin 10 miles northeast of Hillsboro, and three miles north of the Baptist church, under the following circumstances. The man being very old and feeble, two neighbors named Killin and Dillano were in the habit of going up during stormy weather to feed his stock, and on last Thursday morning went as usual. On reaching the cabin they were surprised to find it locked from the outside, as they knew the old man was too feeble and his health too bad to permit of his going out. On turning to go to the barn to look after the stock they were surprised still more by seeing blood upon the snow, but agreed that possibly the old man had killed a chicken to supply himself with fresh meat, or perhaps a hog, as he had plenty of each. Killin and Dillano went to the barn to feed and look after the stock, and their suspicions were aroused by evidences that things were not right. After feeding, they concluded to return to the house to make a closer examination. The cabin has no windows in it, and when the door is shut is very dark on the inside. They pulled the door ajar but could see nothing. They then succeeded in forcing open a hole made in the wall for the house cat to pass through, and after looking for some time until their eyes became used to the darkness they could make out Swanger's form and could see his hand lying out upon the floor, and could see sufficiently to satisfy themselves that the body was Swanger's and that he was dead.

A HORRIBLE SCENE.

They then started to Hillsboro to notify the coroner, but the heavy storm coming on they were compelled to remain at home. On Friday they came to Hillsboro to obtain the coroner and found that there was none by reason of the person elected not qualifying. They then sought the justice of the peace of Hillsboro precinct and found that he had gone to Portland. They then called on the justice of Cornelius precinct and found him [illegible] to attend to the duties of coroner. There being no justice in Beaverdam they then went on to Centerville precinct and called upon Ben Cornelius Jr., who called to his aid D. [illegible] A. Bailey, Deputy Prosecuting Attorney; F. W. Pittenger, Hon. Thomas H. Tongue, attorney-at-law, and Deputy Sheriff G. N. Hide, who proceeded to the premises of the deceased and forced the door. On entering they were horrified at the sight that presented itself. There lay the body of Jacob Swanger with his head literally mashed to a jelly. On further examination they found [illegible] the door of the [illegible] the murder had been [illegible] there were scattered [illegible] brains of the deceased [illegible] the evidence that the murderer after doing the deed had taken his victim by the heels and dragged him into the cabin [illegible]. From tracks in the snow it was evident that the murderer [illegible] the tracks being small [illegible] at the time of the meeting of the coroner's jury the tracks could not be followed on account of the melting snow, but one of the parties that first discovered the body of Swanger followed the track for some distance, but before long [illegible] came back.

WHO IS THE MURDERER?

The inquest was held on Saturday, and on Sunday the body was buried in the Baptist church cemetery, since which time the jury has continued its inquiries, and up to this writing the jury are still at their labors of investigation and probably no verdict will be had for several days. The jury is composed of Messrs. Imbrie, Freeman, Smith and other leading citizens who are determined to probe [illegible] to the bottom, though they meet with [illegible] difficulties in the fact that [illegible] as many of them [illegible] Swanger. [illegible] He owned a large tract of land [illegible] considerable property [illegible] before his death [illegible] taxes [illegible] no relatives in this [illegible] the murder and the testimony [illegible] circumstances [illegible] the head.

Never in the history of Washington county [illegible] of Oregon has there been a more [illegible] and inhuman outrage [illegible] than the murder of Jacob Swanger. Not content with robbing, [illegible] in broad daylight go to the house of one [illegible] living entirely alone [illegible] poor tottering old man from his door and take his life, and in the fiendishness of the act continue to beat the head of the dead man until every bone was crushed and the brains scattered about like straw from the flail. For months past our county has been rife with thefts and crimes of every description. Shall this too be passed by as no one's business? No cost ought to stop the people in their efforts to root out these devils and punish them.

Mr. R. W. Mitchell, of the U. S. land office at Boise City, has recently visited the Spokan country and the results of his observations are given in the Walla Walla Statesman. He thinks that within 35 miles southwest of Spokan Falls lies the future wheat-shipping point of Eastern Washington. The amount of building going on at Spokan was a constant surprise, but most of the houses being erected were of lumber not yet seasoned, as it is put into building shape as fast as turned out of the mill. He mentions as a fact that he saw a log taken from the water on Monday, converted into boards on the same day, and forming the siding of a house on Wednesday afternoon following. The doubt heretofore existing in the minds of would-be settlers as to whether the Northern Pacific railway company can give a good title to purchasers of railroad land has almost passed away, and under the energetic methods of Judge Lewis and Mr. Cushman, the railroad land agent at Colfax, over $10,000 worth of land has been sold within the past six weeks.

The Daily Oregonian.

THURSDAY MORNING, JAN. 15, 1880.

A PREMATURE ANNOUNCEMENT.

A journal published at Philadelphia makes the statement that a plan has been substantially agreed upon between the Oregon Railway & Navigation company and the Northern Pacific company for construction on joint account of the railroad on the south side of the Columbia river between The Dalles and Wallula—the road eventually to be extended to Portland. The plan as stated is this: "The road to be built under the Northern Pacific's charter, using that company's land grant, each company, however, to own the right to half the use of the road—the Northern Pacific to issue its bonds in aid of construction, the Oregon company to pay the entire interest on those bonds for two or three years, and after that both companies to pay the interest equally, in the meantime the Oregon company to have entire use of the road; the rails to be steel and fifty-six pounds, the Northern Pacific to build from the mouth of Snake down to Wallula where the new road begins and, after the expiration of the two or three years' term mentioned, both companies to operate the road and share its profits equally. A division of the business coming from territory nearly common to the two, is said to have been agreed. But it is distinctly understood by the representatives of the Oregon Navigation & Railway company that the Northern Pacific will not vary or delay its purpose to push its main line across the Cascade mountains from the mouth of the Snake or thereabouts, straight to its terminus and seaport on Puget Sound, Tacoma, and the public can so understand it."

A good deal has been said here from time to time on the negotiation pending between the companies to effect the object above indicated; and in order that the public here, who have deep interest in the subject, may not be misled, it is proper to say that as yet no agreement has been reached between the companies, nor is it likely that any agreement will be reached on the basis or plan outlined in the foregoing statement. That plan, as above stated, is, in fact, substantially the proposition of the Northern Pacific; and we risk nothing in saying that it is not likely to be accepted by the Oregon company, or at least until it shall have been first subjected to important modification. The Oregon company holds the most friendly relations with the Northern Pacific. But at the same time the Oregon company holds the key to the great natural channel of communication between the eastern and western sections of the vast northwest. It cannot relinquish this commanding position, but must control it for its own business and for the interests of Portland and for Oregon. Should the Northern Pacific ultimately build across the mountains to Puget Sound, it is apparent that an arrangement on the above plan would enable it, as a transcontinental road, to make the interests of our city and state of secondary importance. Indeed its position would require it to do so. The interests of the Oregon company center in Oregon. Hence we cannot but regard any statement as to an agreement between the companies on such a plan as that outlined in the foregoing summary, as unauthentic. Yet an agreement may and probably will be reached on terms favorable to the common interests of the companies and the objects they respectively have in view.

But at all events, whether such agreement be concluded or not, the Columbia river road will be built and likewise the Northern Pacific will push their work. The natural outlet for the section of road which the Northern Pacific is building beyond Snake river will obviously be the Columbia river road; and this must continue for a considerable time, for should the Northern Pacific decide finally to build across the mountains to Puget Sound, so great and expensive a work could not be consummated without much delay.

A GOOD REPORT FOR IDAHO.

Gov. Brayman of Idaho, in a document recently submitted to the secretary of the interior, furnishes much valuable matter relating to the resources and progress of that territory. A summary of the report shows that the territory comprises 86,294 square miles. Its length is 410 miles, extending from the northern line of Utah and Nevada in lat. 42°, north to the British line in lat. 49. Its width is 257 miles at the southern end, narrowing down to 60 miles on the north. Of the 55,000,000 acres contained within the territory the governor considers 15,000,000 capable of cultivation now, and 12,000,000 acres he thinks can be irrigated. He estimates the timber lands of the territory at 10,000,000 acres, the grazing lands (apart from those fit for cultivation) at 5,000,000, the mining tracts at 8,000,000, and 5,000,000 acres he sets down as worthless desert.

Among the most interesting features of the report is an examination of the irrigation problem. From the high mountains in the eastern part of the territory many rivers take their rise, and the volume of water they afford is sufficient to supply the vast extent of country on their lower course. So rapid is the descent of the streams and so wide are the plains adjacent that millions of acres are within reach of water. But the governor says the desert land law operates against the adoption of any general system of irrigation. Each settler can enter only a small tract, and the land can be reclaimed with advantage only in large bodies. An account is given of the successful operations of the late Wm. B. Morris of Boise City (well known formerly in Portland), who two or three years ago had a number of persons make entries aggregating about 17,600 acres. He spent $70,000, brought water eight miles, and brought the tract under a high state of cultivation, taking 16,000 bushels of wheat from one field of 600 acres. Such results could only be accomplished by associated capital.

The report contains a succinct history of mining operations in Idaho. The gold and silver product of the territory is set down at $63,000,000 for the 14 years to 1877, the heaviest yield being $8,000,000 in 1866. It is probable, says this report, that the bullion yield of Idaho to date has been not far from $75,000,000. The quartz mines are mostly at an altitude of from 4000 to 10,000 feet, and this makes work expensive. Unskilled labor in the mines has had its day, and the necessity for greater knowledge and more economical methods of working is each day more evident.

Idaho unquestionably has great extent and variety of resources, and will develop into a rich and populous state. Its future will astonish those who have been accustomed to think of the territory as in large part an irreclaimable desert. By many of our people this impression was obtained years ago, as they noted the desolate dry tracts of Snake river on the Oregon trail.

AN EXTRAORDINARY STRIKE.

The process of cutting and packing pork at Chicago has been almost at a stand for a month past in consequence of a strike among the workmen. Employers granted the demands of the members of the butchers' union as to wages, whereupon the latter required assent to the terms embraced in the following propositions:

(1) No non-union men shall be employed when there are union men out of work. (2) No union men shall be discharged without cause, and, when so discharged, it shall not be by the employer but by the union. (3) All complaints against workmen by employers shall be investigated by the union, and, unless the union agrees to the discharge, the man shall be retained. (4) When new men are wanted the employers must obtain them through the union and take such men as the union shall furnish. (5) When there is a scarcity of union men, and non-union men are employed, the latter must be discharged as soon as union men present themselves for work.

That is to say, the workmen proposed to take the entire business out of the hands of their employers. Of course no business whatever could be conducted on such principles. So the packing houses were shut down until other workmen could be obtained, or until the strikers should evince a more rational disposition.

The general supposition, early in the present session of congress, was that the ultra hot-headed democratic element would be kept rather in the background and that more circumspection would be used by the "originators" in debate. But it is now thought that there will be some fire spitting before long if the republicans only offer the southerners a little provocation. Gen. Chalmers, of Mississippi, has already spoken, and the Memphis Avalanche endorses him as follows: "The attempt of second class democratic partisan politicians to squelch great democratic leaders like Gen. Chalmers will prove a dead failure. Gen. Chalmers is a recognized first class leader of the party, and his oratorical orifice cannot be closed. If the party has no principles, leaders are not necessary. With no principles the continued existence of the party is not an absolute necessity. If the party is in possession of some principles which are so odorous to the public that leaders dare not advocate them, it would be wise for the party to exchange the principles now on hand for a new set. Or the party, perhaps, had better take Gen. Chalmers' advice and drop politics."

A correspondent of the Chicago Tribune who has been traveling extensively through the northwest, mingling freely with business men, says that while he finds nine republicans out of ten willing to vote for Grant if nominated, there is no genuine enthusiasm apparent in favor of his third term. Many among them, he says, "fear that the politicians who are pushing him forward so energetically are looking with longing eyes towards prospective favors in the shape of remunerative contracts and near-sighted justice."

The late George S. Houston, senator of the United States from Alabama, was the oldest member of the senate. He had long been in political life. Fifteen years before the war he was a member of the house of representatives and a recognized leader of his party, being chairman of the committee of ways and means. He was an old whig, but quarreled with Henry Clay, and supported Polk for the presidency, and remained with the democrats ever afterwards.

The organ of the San Francisco capitalist who holds the monopoly of the Hawaiian sugar trade says the prosperity which has fallen upon the islands in consequence of the treaty is that which follows a fertilizing rain upon a parched country. Yes; the treaty has already taken millions from our own country and transferred them to the islands. This makes a smart fertilizing shower. And the monopolist of San Francisco has his platter right side up.

The unsatisfied people of Northern Dakota, who have been agitating the project of division of the territory for half a dozen years without making any perceptible progress, have finally hit upon a plan for interesting a powerful influence in their favor. They propose to call the northern twin of the two new territories Grant. If the plan is carried out, it would be an appropriate thing to appoint the general as the first governor.

The Boston Globe, which defends the Garcelon usurpation, thinks the republic is on the brink of a crisis, and that a little more blood-letting may be necessary. Such democratic performances as are now going on in Maine, are a pretty severe strain on human endurance, but it is not likely that blood-letting will ensue, unless it shall be precipitated by Garcelon and his unscrupulous adherents.

Among the great journals of the country the New York Times continues to deserve honorable mention. As a newspaper it is unexcelled, and as a journal of opinion it fully sustains the reputation it established long ago. It is written with fairness, candor and force, and is a journal of principles rather than of expedients. It was never more prosperous than now.

To cover polygamy with the protecting shield of state sovereignty is what the Mormons are aiming at. But the democratic congress will not dare to admit Utah, even for the sake of its three votes in the electoral college.

OREGON RAILROAD BUSINESS.

PORTLAND, Jan. 13, 1880.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

You publish for the information and benefit of your readers, official returns, showing the earnings of the O. & C. R. R., and the Oregon Central railroad for nine months of the years 1878 and 1879. Why not publish these returns for twelve months? Every person in Oregon knows that these railroad companies earn more money during the months of October, November and December, which is the wheat hauling season to Portland, than all the other nine months of the year put together, and you do not publish these companies' earnings for those three months. Why is this? If you cannot give their gross earnings for October, November and December, 1879, you can surely give us the gross earnings for the three months during the year 1878. Let's have facts by all means. No company would attempt to give its stockholders dividends upon, and publish its returns for nine months of the year, and withhold from the public its returns for the best paying portion of the year, except it had an object to serve which would seem to be to prevent any other railroads being built in in western Oregon, and give these railroad companies presently therein the exclusive ownership and monopoly of all the railroads in the Willamette valley.

AN OREGONIAN.

The reason we did not print the figures for the whole year was because we did not have them. The figures we gave were such, precisely, as we found in the official report of the U. S. auditor of railroad accounts. We had access to no other information. So we withhold nothing from the public. At the same time we have no idea that the earnings of the roads for October, November and December are greater than those for the other nine months of the year. And it is absolutely certain that the roads have so far always been a loss upon the investment.—ED. OREGONIAN.

Adgate's Glass Ball Casters!

FOR

Bedsteads, Bureaus, Parlor Tables, Dining Room Tables, Sofas, etc., etc.,

AND FOR

PIANOS AND ORGANS.

WE WOULD RESPECTFULLY CALL ATTENTION to these new and beautiful furniture Casters, consisting of fine, polished, flint glass balls, held in claws of fine bell metal, or of malleable iron nickel plated. Besides their exceeding beauty, which is a sufficient inducement for their adoption, THEY POSSESS MANY DECIDED ADVANTAGES OVER THE OLD STYLE SWIVEL CASTERS. They are fast superseding the old style—a fact that they possess advantages of no mean merit. They are easily put on furniture instead of the old style.

They add Materially to the Sweetness and Volume of Tone of Pianos and Organs

On which they are used, by insulating the instrument. This statement we substantiate by reliable testimonials, at hand. These Casters have attracted the attention of eminent musicians, who have thoroughly tested their merits, and unhesitatingly recommend them for improving the quantity and quality of tone. In addition to the valuable testimonials of prominent musicians East, in our profession, we quote the following from gentlemen of rare musical attainments, well known to the profession in Oregon:

MESSRS. AIKEN & ALLEN: After your having placed a set of the "Adgate Glass Ball Casters" on my piano, I must say that I am pleased with the effect. I find the instrument wonderfully improved in volume and brilliancy of tone. I can also certify to their advantages as a caster over the old style swivel action. My Piano can be moved about over the carpeted floor with much greater ease with these Casters than with the old style.

Respectfully, T. H. PARROTT,
Professor of Music.

East Portland, Jan. 10, 1880.

CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC,
PORTLAND, Or., Jan. 12th, 1880.

We take great pleasure in certifying to the improvement in our Piano since having the "Adgate Glass Ball Casters" attached. The volume of tone and brilliancy is greater and the treble much more brilliant, and our only regret is that we did not use them before.

W. H. KINROSS,
FRANCIS VINTON.

PORTLAND, Or., Jan. 13th, 1880.

We have tested the merits of the "Adgate Glass Ball Casters," as used on Pianos and we heartily indorse the opinion of Messrs. Kinross and Vinton in regard to same.

D. W. PRENTICE & CO.

COOK'S MUSIC PARLORS,
PORTLAND, Or., Jan. 15th, 1880.

MESSRS. AIKEN & ALLEN—Gentlemen: After carefully testing my Piano, on which you have placed the "Adgate Glass Ball Casters," I unhesitatingly say that they possess all the merits claimed for them. They clearly add to the brilliancy and volume of tone of the instrument. The Glass Ball "Center-Bearing" Caster I think is of great importance.

Respectfully, E. COOK.

Our complete stock is on exhibition at McKercher & Thompson's Book Store, 105 First St., Portland, Or. A liberal discount allowed to the trade. Orders by mail promptly filled.

CITY.

LECTURES ON SOCIAL SCIENCE.—We were shown yesterday the prospectus of a course of lectures upon "Social Science," which is to be given in the chapel of the Unitarian church, beginning Wednesday the 28th inst., and which promises to be very interesting to thinking people as well as affording food for thought to the general public. Social science is a term covering a wide range of subjects, all directly or indirectly related to the welfare of man as a social being and the general conduct of life. Drs Harvey and Rex, Prof. Crawford, and Judge Shattuck, are named in the course, and the subjects in order are, "The First Appearance of Man in America;" "Drainage and Ventilation;" "The Social Condition and Outlook of the American Race;" "Household Chemistry," and some theme connected with the administration of law and its realizable ideals. The course is called "A venture in the direction of awakening attention to the whole subject of social science," and its claim on the age. The price of tickets to the course of six lectures is $1, and is designed merely to cover incidental expenses. Musical exercises will precede and follow each lecture, and it is intended that an opportunity shall be given each evening for questions from the audience.

A FATAL FALL.—About 7 o'clock Tuesday evening a sailor named Joseph Spencer fell from the upper dock at Flanders' wharf and sustained injuries from which he died at St. Vincent's hospital yesterday morning at 7:30 o'clock. Spencer had been visiting some friends on board the Wm. D. Reed, and while going ashore he walked off the edge of the wharf in the darkness, which was intense, and fell to the lower dock, a distance of about 20 feet. His cries brought assistance. He was picked up and carried to the Portland hotel and Dr. Jones summoned. Subsequently Spencer was removed to the hospital. On examining Spencer he was found to have sustained a severe concussion of the brain and injuries to the spine. He became unconscious soon after being picked up, and remained in that condition until his death. Spencer was aged 27 years, and an Englishman by birth. He is said to have been a very industrious and sober young man. The funeral will take place to-day.

A NARROW ESCAPE.—The Masonic Temple which was so roughly handled by Friday's storm, narrowly escaped destruction by fire last evening, about 6 o'clock. A portion of the tin roof was torn off by the gale, and since the storm several tinners have been engaged in making the repairs necessary. When they quit work last evening one of the hand furnaces was thoughtlessly left on the roof. It was partially filled with live coals, and the wind, which, at the time, was blowing strongly from the south, soon began to scatter them about the roof. Chief Engineer Jordan, who happened to be in the vicinity at the time, saw the live coals flying about. He immediately went up on the roof and putting out the fire brought the hand furnace down.

CHARITY BALL OF LADIES' RELIEF SOCIETY.—The annual ball given by the Ladies' Relief Society for the benefit of the Children's Home will take place at Turn Halle on Friday evening, Jan. 30th. Committees of ladies will call upon our citizens in a few days for the sale of tickets, $2.50 each, including supper and carriage, and it is hoped, in behalf of this old, well known, unsectarian institution, whose usefulness is so thoroughly understood, that these committees may meet with good success. Those who do not wish to purchase tickets can simply make donations to the same; but all who are called upon are desired to give some substantial aid for the coming year. All who attended last year's party had a good time, and it is intended that this coming one shall be fully up to the mark.

ROAD SUPERVISORS.—The following appointments of road commissioners for the ensuing year were made at the last session of the county court: Road District No. 1, Dennis Kelly; Road District No. 2, Pembroke Gale; Road District No. 3, Wm. Gatren; Road District No. 4, Geo. M. Long; Road District No 5, Jas. Kennedy; Road District No. 6, Robert Gilbert; Road District No. 7, A. T. Kentmeyer; Road District No 8, Frederick Emily; Road District No. 9, Benjamin Smith. The bonds for the supervisors of Districts 1 and 2 were fixed at $1000; the remainder at $500.

THE WEST SIDE ROAD.—The Western Oregon railroad is now cleared, and trains are running regularly to Independence. The track has been laid on the extension to within three miles of Corvallis, and a construction train left last night with enough rails to nearly complete the road. It is expected that trains will be running to Corvallis by Saturday, the 24th inst. The track beyond Independence has been somewhat damaged by the recent heavy rains, but not so heavily as to interrupt running of trains.

FREIGHT.—It is stated that there are over 2,000 tons of freight on the upper Columbia now awaiting shipment to this city. It will take the O. S. N. Co. at least five weeks to transport this enormous quantity. The O. T. Co. transferred 40,000 tons of freight for the merchants of Portland during the month of September last, the greatest amount of business transacted by them in the same length of time since its organization.

DEATH OF LIEUT. SHELTON.—A telegram was received here last night announcing the sudden death of Lieut. Edwin H. Shelton of the 1st cavalry, at Canyonville on the stage road 12 miles below Roseburg. Mr. Shelton was en route from his post at Fort Klamath to Walla Walla. Lieut. John Q. Adams left this morning for Canyonville, and will accompany the remains to this city.

WEEKLY OREGONIAN.—To-morrow THE WEEKLY OREGONIAN will be issued. It is a most excellent number, containing a very full and complete account of the storm of last Friday. Besides, the paper will contain dispatches from all parts of the world, editorials on current topics, market reviews, local intelligence, and choice miscellany. Price per copy, 10 cents.

CHANGE OF SAILING DATE.—On account of the detention of the Oregon on her last downward trip, no steamer will leave this city for San Francisco next Monday as previously advertised. The sailing dates are as follows: Oregon, Saturday, Jan. 24th; State of California, Thursday, Jan. 29th; Geo. W. Elder, Tuesday, Feb 3d.

OFFICERS ELECTED.—At a recent meeting the directors of the Willamet iron works, of this city, elected the following officers for the ensuing year: President, Walter Thompson; vice president, Peter Taylor; superintendent, James Lotan; secretary, W. T. Stephens.

HAYES TRUCK ORDERED.—An order for a Hayes truck for Vigilance Hook & Ladder Company was forwarded to San Francisco Tuesday evening by the committee on fire and water and Chief Engineer Jordan.

ARRIVED BELOW.—The State of California arrived in San Francisco, yesterday morning at one o'clock. She had an exceedingly rough passage.

SOCIAL EVENTS.

Under the auspices of Mount Hood Hook and Ladder Company No. 1, of East Portland, a grand fancy dress and costume ball will be given next Friday evening at Neppach's new hall, corner I and Fourth streets. The proceeds of the ball will be applied to the purchase of a new fire engine. A handsome prize will be awarded the best sustained lady character, also a prize to be awarded the best sustained gentleman character. The following are the committees: Arrangements—Charles Bartel, J. A. Newell, John Neppach, T. J. Matlock, Henry Jones and J. L. Ferguson; reception—Frank Payne, Kirk Sheldon, C. H. Meussdorffer, John DeBoest and Henry Mueller; floor—Henry Pape, Ed. A. Cunningham, Dave Raffety, Wilbur Kerns, James Claggett.

PERSONAL.

Mr. R. B. Knapp, of the firm of Knapp, Burrell & Co., with his wife, arrived in San Francisco on Saturday last, from an extended tour through the eastern states. They will probably leave San Francisco for their home in this city on the Oregon, next Saturday.

AMUSEMENTS.

Hear Dr. Simms on Chin, Wrinkles, Walking, Laughing, at Y. M. C. A. Hall to-night. Get a chart at the ante-room to-day, and learn what you can do best. He reads noted citizens to a T. A recipe to remove tan, freckles, pimples, will be given.

BRIEF NOTES.

Sunshine and storm yesterday.

The public schools are all full.

The walking mania has subsided.

Who is your choice for president?

It is time to pay county and state taxes.

Fourth street railroad is being ballasted.

The Willamette still bears a troubled look.

County roads are in a very bad condition.

Cars and boats are again running on time.

The demand for tin has been great for the past few days.

The steamer Oregon will not sail for Portland until next Saturday.

Since last Friday, a great many trees about the city lean toward the north.

Since the storm East Portland Park presents a demoralized appearance.

The damages committed by the storm in this city are being rapidly repaired.

Is it not about time for the present weather to have its spinal column dislocated?

We understand that an effort will be made to rebuild the Catholic church in East Portland.

A number of workmen are engaged in building a new spire for the First Presbyterian church.

The lively little ferryboat Twin still makes regular trips between the foot of Stark street and the eastern shore.

Remember THE WEEKLY OREGONIAN. It will be out to-morrow and will contain a full account of the recent heavy storm.

Considering the duration, violence and extent of the late storm the loss of human life, and injury to limb is remarkably small.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE UNITARIAN SOCIETY.

The attendance at this meeting Tuesday evening was the largest ever known, and the reports exhibit an encouraging growth and interest. During the past year nearly $4000 has been expended for all purposes. The new church, which was dedicated June 8th, has been furnished with cushions and a carpet of the best quality, all of which is paid for, and the appointments of the church are complete except organ and bell, and funds for the latter are now in bank. The pastor's report gives 44 baptisms of children, 5 of adults; 16 admissions to church membership; 18 weddings solemnized; 25 funerals.

The report of the building and finance committees were received and the committees ordered discharged. Resolutions of thanks were offered to friends not in the parish, or abroad, who have assisted in raising the sums required to dedicate the church without debt. The general subscription list, covering nearly 20,000, has been collected within 1 per cent.

Considerable attention was given to the topic of current expenses, as there has been some falling behind, and the question was agitated of renting slips, eliciting a large range of opinions. An expression of sentiment being called for, the preponderating voice seemed to be in favor of retaining the present usage—at least until it is proved inadequate to meet the financial requirements of the society. The retiring trustees were Messrs. C. W. Burrage, S. G. Reed and E. Ayers. On ballot the following named person were elected to serve as trustees for the term of three years: Messrs. N. S. Pierce and Alfred F. Sears, Jr., and Mrs. Mary E. Frazar.

The Sunday school was reported to have nearly 200 members and teachers. The charity fund of the church has expended $171. In this connection was noted the generous gift made to the society by a friend on the Sunday after Thanksgiving, of a check for $100 towards replenishing the children's library, and $100 for the deserving poor.

UP THE COLUMBIA.

Ever since the subsidence of the heavy storm, the O. S. N. Co. has had forces of men engaged in repairing the line between this city and Walla Walla. The line was in a badly demoralized condition, but after much difficulty the wires have been placed in operating condition. Yesterday evening at 5 o'clock telegraphic communication was established clear through to Walla Walla. However, the line was working heavily. At 6:30 P. M. the following dispatches were received from up the Columbia:

Celilo—Clear, thermometer 40°; considerable ice running from gorge below Hellgate; gorge in Hell gate solid yet.

Dalles—Clear, thermometer 46°, up-stream wind; river rose six inches in last 24 hours.

Cascades—Thermometer 50°; heavy wind up stream; no rain to night.

Wallula—Cloudy, thermometer 45°; river fell 12 inches to-day; wind a gale up stream. The Almota will leave in the morning for Ainsworth and expects to make the round trip to morrow. The river is now 1 foot and 10 inches above low water. It is thought the Almota will be able to take 50 tons up, the repairs necessary having been completed.

STILL MORE OF THE STORM.

Reports from Umatilla County, Westport and other Localities—The Men on Tillamook Rock, Etc., Etc.

Letters from Puget Sound state that the storm spent its fury south of the Columbia river, and that it was not recognized there as an extraordinary gale. No damage whatever resulted from it. The telegraph lines connecting Portland with Seattle, Port Townsend and the various sound cities are still down and cannot be repaired till the snow, which now lies deep north of Kalama, melts so that the prostrated wires can be reached.

From all other points come the same monotonous stories of damage or disaster. Following are the latest reports:

UMATILLA COUNTY.

Several Houses Blown Down at Weston, and One Woman Hurt—"No Fence" Law Triumphant.

Weston Leader, Saturday, Jan. 10

Yesterday afternoon occurred one of the most terrific gales that has visited our city within the memory of the "oldest inhabitant." All forenoon there had been blowing a pretty "stiff" breeze, but suddenly immense clouds of dust hurled along from the plowed fields betokened the wild increase of the storm. Ten thousand furies seemed to have thrown their spirit into the blast as it howled threateningly along. It came from the south, hence the buildings at that end had to stand the first brunt of the storm. Palmer's large two-story dwelling house cringed before it, and was moved ten feet from its original foundation. Charles Black's family occupied it. His wife unfortunately received some slight injuries, there not being time for her to make good her escape. Many other structures here were more or less jarred, but the next disaster of moment was a new building just being completed by Mr. J. L. Van Winkle. This was a neat edifice just moved into by the owner. Being set lengthwise to the blast, it was turned completely over, coming to the ground with a crash which but for good workmanship, would have shattered the building to splinters. They just had time and presence of mind enough to extinguish the fires in the house and vacate the premises. Otherwise the city might have had to suffer the additional horrors of a conflagration. Next George Campbell's house vainly held up against the storm, and was landed several feet from its site. It is needless to say it had been speedily vacated. C. McMorris' frame store was careened over somewhat but broke the force enough to save the adjoining blacksmith shop from total ruin. H. Sard[illegible]'s flue was blown down and broke four rafters. W. R. Jones, our veteran dentist, had his new and beautiful dwelling thrown also from its foundation. The building was in process of completion. Sailing & Reese's large warehouse, with their hall above next yielded. The hall above was occupied by Miss Ida Oglesby as a private schoolroom, and the pupils had just decamped in terror about ten minutes, when the whole roof and upper story was torn bodily from the building and precipitated beyond. It is frightful to imagine the consequences had they remained.

Outside the city the following had roofs blown off their barns: T. J. Price, William Lunsten, Mrs. Rodgers and Thomas Kirk. S. A. John, our butcher, had his corrals blown down, allowing his cattle etc. to scatter in all directions. And, stretching away west of us, miles of fence have been razed to the ground, so that No Fence Law is now king. Down Pine creek the giant pines were rudely snapped asunder, or ruthlessly torn from their roots.

WESTPORT.

Great Damage on all Sides—Several Hair-breadth Escapes.

[Correspondence of the Astorian.]

WESTPORT, JAN. 11.—On the 9th at 2 o'clock P. M., a storm of snow and wind set in and continued for two hours with all the fury of a hurricane uprooting trees and cracking them off in such numbers that the sound resembled the firing of a bunch of crackers, or a discharge of musketry. The river was agitated to such a degree that it resembled the ocean surf.

Mr. J. L. Morgan's raft of logs broke and scattered in all directions. It is said he will lose 150,000 feet. Mr. John Canaris, while assisting Morgan to save his logs, was blown into the water and was with difficulty saved from drowning.

Mr George H. Heather, our telegraph operator, was repairing and putting up wires, waist deep in the water, when the storm began, and finding that the wires came down faster than he could put them up, concluded to return home, and had just started in his boat, when a large cottonwood fell, just clearing his boat, the splash swamping it. He bailed it out with his hat and finally got home.

Tim Driscoll and two sons barely escaped a falling tree while going in a skiff from his shop to his house; a large tree fell across his barn destroying it completely. The cows had gone out a few minutes before.

The side was blown out of Mr. Plimpton's barn, and fearing that his dwelling would go, removed his family to a place of safety, and putting out the fires stood guard amidst the storm of snow and flying splinters with the bravery of a Spartan.

The sheds covering the boat pits, and the shed under which the Emily Stephens was built are down.

The mill flume is down for a considerable distance.

The chute at Ordway's logging camp, where Dupree is at work, is filled with fallen timber.

Indian Charley's scow swamped, and he had to swim with his family through the seething waters. A specimen of Indian skill and intrepidity.

A force is now at work putting up wires.

WASHINGTON COUNTY.

Fences and Bridges Alone Damaged to the Extent of $20,000.

HILLSBORO, Jan. 14.

The storm of Friday in all its mad fury did not seem to reach the western portion of our county, but seemed to abate from Rock creek, though it blew sufficiently hard to uproot trees by the acre. For miles the county roads in every direction are filled with timber. All our bridges, except the long bridge leading from Hillsboro to Cornelius and Forest Grove, are washed out or torn down by timber. Fences are in a bad condition, though not to the extent that one would suppose. In and around Hillsboro a few old sheds were blown down and signs carried away, and many instances of hairbreadth escapes are related from falling timber. Near E. Crandall's place a tree cut away the corner of a house in its descent. Details are too meager to give full reports until communications can be opened. So far I have not learned of the loss of but a single life, and that lacks confirmation. The damage to roads and bridges is put at the very lowest by careful estimates at $20,000. Churches and other buildings in this county are badly shook up. The board of supervisors are out with heavy forces. The road to Forest Grove is open, and as far east as the point near Reedville. It is estimated that it will take the whole year's road tax to open the roads alone. The telegraph line is up and working between Hillsboro and Cornelius, and the operators are working like beavers pulling out the wire preparatory to putting it up. Good room way for travel will not be had this winter.

THE STORM AT PORT TOWNSEND.

Barometer Down to 28.41—Heavy Snow Fall—Slight Damage to Shipping, etc.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE OREGONIAN.]

PORT TOWNSEND, Jan. 12.

A fresh fall of snow commenced at 8 A. M on the 9th. At 9 A. M. the barometer stood 29.03; at 2:30 P. M., 28.41; 3 P. M., 28.41; 5 P. M., 28.60. Saturday at 9 A. M. the barometer stood 29.30. Friday, 9 P. M., thermometer 26°; Saturday, 9 A. M., 24°.

Sunday, 11th, cloudy all day. Eclipse of the sun was not visible. Wind changed from NW to SE.

Monday, 12th, thawing fast; wind due south.

The schooner Page, which recently went ashore at Freshwater Bay during a storm, was hauled off by means of the tackle left by Capt. Hooper, of the cutter Wolcott, and sailed in here Saturday without a rudder. She is full of water and will be taken to Port Ludlow for repairs.

Several sheds and barns have fallen in in this vicinity, owing to the weight of snow on the roofs.

A large boom of logs was being towed by the steamer Mastick to Port Discovery on Friday, and broke at Point Wilson. Efforts are being made to save some of it.

The bark Atlanta dragged ashore at Port Gamble, breaking both anchor chains.

The revenue cutter Wolcott left on Saturday for the straits to ascertain if any vessels were in distress, and returned this morning. Nothing to report.

No losses or fatal accidents have been reported here.

The snow at San Juan and Semiahmoo is reported very light.

Altogether it is the most severe season ever experienced here, the barometer falling lower on Friday than ever known here before. The public school has been closed ever since the storm began.

Heavy snow storm in the straits last (Sunday) night, the wind blowing 40 miles an hour. The wreck of the Washington Libby has gone to pieces.

FROM VARIOUS SECTIONS.

The Men on Tillamook Rock—Brief Reports from Various Points.

The school house in King's prairie, near Renesse, in Linn county, above Fox prairie, was mashed to atoms during the storm by several large trees falling upon it.

Capt. J. H. D. Gray and others report that the storm raged severely in Pacific county, W. T. The portage road was buried with timber. In crossing from [illegible] to [illegible], to take the steamer for Astoria, Mr. Carruthers got lost in the midst of the fallen monarchs of the forest, and was a long time finding his way out.

A letter to THE OREGONIAN from Glad Tidings, in the southwestern part of Clackamas county, gives most distressing [illegible] of the effects of the late storm in that little town and its neighborhood. A great number of trees were blown down and several barns unroofed and their contents damaged by rain. Mr Jesse Cox's granary was upset, and he lost 400 bushels of grain. The woodshed was also thrown over. Mr. W. P. Pearman's barn was turned over by the wind and one cow worth $50 was killed. Several horses were hurt. The total loss of property, not including the value of timber blown down, will reach a large sum.

Reports that the men engaged in preparing a foundation for the proposed lighthouse on Tillamook rock were swept into the sea by the recent storm, are pronounced to be unreasonable by the engine [illegible] who understand the situation of all [illegible] there. The party of whom there are about fifteen, live in a cave [illegible] from the solid rock, and are fully protected from all sides. This cave is 80 feet above [illegible] mark, and far higher than the waves could reach. The [illegible] [illegible]

Having given an indication of the republican sentiment of Portland by the publication of the preference of 127 members of the party here for president, OREGONIAN reporters thinking to outline democratic tendencies in the same direction, yesterday propounded the interrogatory "Who is your first choice, as a democrat for president of the United States?" to 75 well recognized democrats in this city to which replies were received, substantially as follows:

Its action on disease is entirely different from any medicine ever introduced, quieting pains almost instantly. EVERYTHING.

[“A Fairy Tale” from Mrs. Piatt's New Volume of Poems.]

You'd call his room a pleasant place—
Satin and rosewood, lights and lace,
And fruits and vines were there. Ah, well!
And yet the rich man rang his bell,
When lo, he saw a fairy flit
From outside dusk to answer it.

Her flower like eyes, so faint and blue,
Looked at him through her veil of dew.
Though every gracious thing he had,
His face was fretful, tired and sad.
“Pray, sir,” she whispered, “did you ring?”
He said, “Yes; I want—everything.”

The fairy laughed and walked away.
Ragged and rosy at his play,
A boy, who had the grass, the dew,
Birds, bees, the sun, the stars like you,
She met. “What do you want?” sighed she.
“Oh, I have everything,” said he.

SHORT BITS.

Queen Victoria's gift to Mrs Nellie Grant Sartoris was a miniature of her royal self set in precious stones.

Secretary Ramsey is a fine singer, and, with Secretary Schurz to play accompaniments, is said to vocalize more or less nearly every evening.

A member of the Providence (R. I.) law firm which has acted as counsel for Mrs. Sprague in her recent litigation says that he has no knowledge whatever of any movements on Mrs. Sprague's part toward obtaining a divorce from her husband.

"Sir Leopold McClintock, of arctic celebrity, hoists his flag on board the new frigate Northampton as commander-in-chief of the North American and West Indian squadron. The gallant admiral will sail from Spithead on the 20th of December, and, contrary to the general rules of the service, will be accompanied to Bermuda by Lady McClintock and his children."

A local sensation in Toledo, Ohio, is thus briefly described by the Blade of that city: "A handsome cutter, trimmed with white fur, tacked on, with white runners and white robes, was drawn by a span of mouse colored horses, and contained one of Toledo's merchant princes and his wife, richly attired in furs. The turnout was unique and elegant, and attracted a great deal of attention."

The New London correspondent of the Norwich Bulletin thus described a mirage seen there recently: "Vessels passing in the line of it were elevated to a wonderful height in the air, so much so as to show mirrored beneath them a perfect picture of themselves, so that they appeared double and one above another, while the islands appeared to be in the clouds."

A great scandal has occurred at Montreal among the beau monde by the elopement of a prominent and wealthy merchant's wife with a gay young man of business in the city. The lady's early antecedents were none of the best, but since her marriage she became very religious, led an exemplary life for many years, and was received into the best society of the city. The destination of the fugitives is supposed to be Boston or New York.

Mr. Tennyson, while he greatly admires ladies, has an invincible repugnance to hearing them recite poetry. He went to an afternoon tea party in London last season, at which a certain fair lady, who wished to do him honor, rose and began to recite one of his poems. The venerable and irascible poet endured it as long as he could, then stopped the poor woman with an imperious gesture and immediately proceeded to deliver the poem himself in his own orotund way.

A London magazine describes a deaf and dumb debate, the subject selected being: "Was Charles I. justly executed?" The President of the debating society is Mr. Davidson, whose picture, "Tempus Fugit," was one of the attractions of the the Royal Academy last year. They applaud, like other people, by hand-clapping. London contains about 2000 deaf mutes, of whom about sixty per cent. are congenital cases. The rest are victims of disease, chiefly scarlet fever, and fright in childhood.

TELEGRAPHING WITHOUT WIRES.—Professor Loomis continues his experiments in the mountains of West Virginia to demonstrate the theory that at certain elevations there is a natural electric current, by taking advantage of which telegraphic signals may be sent without the use of wires. It is said that he has telegraphed eleven miles by means of kites flown with copper wires. When the kites reached the same altitude, or got into the same current, communication by means of an instrument similar to that of Morse was easy, but ceased as soon as one of the kites was lowered. He has built towers on two hills about twenty miles apart, and from the tops of them has run up steel rods into the region of the electric current.—[Journal of the Telegraph.

A FRIEND IN NEED.—A gentleman was telling a few days since of a remark that General Grant made, which is a key to his character in some respects. A quiet investigation among leading Republicans in Congress had developed a ring of robbers among office-holders appointed by President Grant, who had a little system by which they were getting away with the national funds in an exceedingly lively and harmonious manner. All the facts were laid before Grant, and he pulled his cigar out long enough to remark that he was satisfied with the evidence of their knavery and would attend to the matter. A week passed away and the Republicans became nervous and anxious, expecting an explosion in Congress every day through discovery of the matter by the Democrats. At last they went to the President again and urged immediate action for the sake of the country and the party. "Are you not satisfied of their rascality?" was asked one day. "I am," said Grant, "but those men are friends of mine and appointees of mine." "But you don't propose to stand by them on that account when you know they are in the wrong?" said the gentleman. "Mr. ——," replied Grant, slowly pulling out his cigar, "any man can stand by his friend when he is right. The test of true friendship is to stand by his friend when he is wrong." And the "friends" were allowed to resign quietly, one after another, without exposure or dishonor.—[Letter to Cincinnati Commercial.

CORNERING A HOG.—William Garhart denies Congressman Daggett's assertion that the mule is the king of beasts. Garhart accords the palm of superiority to the hog. A hog always knows what he is about. Garhart claims that no man on earth ever got the better of a hog in a fair struggle. He has tried to drive over hogs many times, but was successful only once. They sometimes lie in the hollow of a road fast asleep. Mr. Garhart has often borne down on them at a 2:40 pace with a five-ton stage and a six-in-hand on a down grade. Just, however, as he confidently expected to see the air filled with wagon-grease and spare-ribs, they lurch clear of the wheel or glide under the stage and come out all safe and sound, with a grunt of quiet self-satisfaction and a look that was more exasperating than to be robbed by road agents. Mr. Garhart never got away with a hog but once. The animal dodged a train of cars coming out of a tunnel, and he whipped up his horses and caught the hog square in the neck with one of the fore wheels and killed it. The stage, however, upset and smashed everything in sight. Two men were killed outright and several women maimed for life. The hog calculated all right for the locomotive, but was out of his reckoning on the stage. But the company thought the victory over the hog was dearly purchased.

Decline of American Shipping.

The New York Tribune presents in the following paragraph a picture of the decline of the shipping interests of the United States, which is well nigh appaling:

Time was when American vessels carried four-fifths of the goods entering into the foreign trade of this country. But what proportion did they carry this last fiscal year? only twenty-three per centum; and of the exports, they actually only carried seventeen per centum. This is a strange and lamentable fact. The most singular part of it is that American ships actually carried less than they did twenty-five years ago. Trade has grown from a total of $541,000,000 in 1856 to a total of $1,183,000,000 last year—almost double, but American ships carried in 1856 goods valued at $482,000,000, and in 1878-9 only $272,000,000 worth. Trade grows year by year, but American navigation decays steadily.

There is a little boy in Tuscarawas, Ohio, whose legs are so rapidly petrifying that the doctors are delighted no end. They have never before had the advantage of seeing so novel and interesting a case. But if nature is going into the statuary business it will be a sorry day for Vinnie Ream and our own Mezzara; there will be no demand for their inferior wares. When the fiat goes forth, "Every man his own statue," the hewers of marble can step down and out.

"And how is your neighbor, Mrs. Brown?" inquired one nicely dressed lady of another. "She's well enough, I suppose. I haven't seen her to speak to her for six weeks." "Why I thought you two were on friendly terms." "Well, we used to be; but we've exchanged servants."

Mr. Tilden fell from his horse one day while reviewing the troops in front of Madison Square. But he seems to be seated so securely on the back of the democratic party that he is in no danger of falling.

That two men may be perfect friends, they must necessarily attract and repel one another; have great contrasts of character and great harmonies of heart.—Chateaubriand.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

Financial.

WEDNESDAY EVENING, Jan. 14.

The wheat market is bare of transactions, with advices from England indicating a somewhat firmer tendency in prices. There is some decline in the rates for tonnage, and the Edmund Phinney which has been held at 70s or over, has accepted a charter at 62s 6d. There are now, not more than two or three vessels disengaged on this market, and were it not that no general disposition is manifested on the part of wheat holders to sell, we might expect a scarcity of tonnage, but the cereal movement is light and without better prices to draw out the remaining surplus, the movement is likely to be gradual for some time to come. For good parcels offers are made at $1 95@$1 97½ per cental.

Eggs are not to be had in this market since the storm in any considerable quantities, and a small lot offered yesterday readily brought 45 cents per dozen, while good fresh would command 50 cents to-day. The market is running short on several such commodities as are usually supplied from farmers' wagons, but generally prices are but little advanced.

New York Freights and Markets.

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—The market generally is as quiet as usual at the beginning of the year, but there were indications of active revival after balance sheets of the past year had been completed. Provisions are dull and outside of options nothing doing; prices wholly nominal. Refined sugars meet good active demand and prices higher. Crushed, 10c; powdered, 10⅛; granulated, 9⅞; cut loaf 10⅛; coffee A standard, 9⅞; do. coffee A, 9⅛@9⅞; white extra C, 8¾@8⅞; extra C, 8⅝@8¼; C 8@8¼; yellow, 7⅞@8. Quicksilver has advanced abroad; prices here higher, 45c being the inside rate. Borax very quiet. Opium firm, under advices of damage to crop by frost. Turpentine, limited demand; market rather weaker. Petroleum dull and nominal. Raisins quiet, but fine grades very firm. Crude oils quiet, prices firm; whale held eastward at $1 05. Hardware, good demand for the season; prices higher all along the line. Nails in good demand at extreme rates, quoted $3 35. Pig iron excited, unsettled, holders having available supplies or near future delivery refuse to sell at any price. Sales have been made of No. 1 X Lehigh brands as high as $40. Scotch pig also active at $33 50@34 50 for Coltner's. Manufactured iron quiet, holders indifferent. Lead has been active at 5½c for common, 6@6½c for refined. Tin, 8c; tin plates in good demand and firm. Leather in good demand at easier prices; California, 27½@28. Paints of all kinds in good demand; prices tend upward; Furs—Supplies light and in good, strong hands and extreme rates looked for; demand small. Hops in moderate demand and firm at 35@40c. Wool quiet, it being yet too early for active demands. Prices, however, are very firm. Sales California, 110,000 lbs fall, 22@28c; 75,000 lbs lambs, 31@37c; 10,000 lbs spring, 33@36c; 8000 lbs. scoured, 73@77½c.

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—Clipper freights continue dull, and vessels commence to drag. The Sovereign of the Seas is the most advanced and will close out in a day or two. Notwithstanding that deliveries of railroad iron both at this port and Philadelphia on account of the Northern Pacific roads are very slow, the line that has the contract for transportation is still chartering vessels to carry the same, and to-day took the Gatherer to load at Philadelphia for Portland, and the Cultivator at this port. Private advices from the isthmus represent matters there in a much worse state than has generally been supposed. Freight is piled up in every available quarter, and notwithstanding the efforts to get rid of it, it will be at least one month before the isthmus is cleared. In the meantime no freight that can possibly be turned away, will be taken from this port, as steamers will be occupied in bringing away from the isthmus as much as they can at each trip, and it is not proposed to retard matters by taking to the isthmus as much as they carry away. The only freight that possibly can be taken will be enough heavy goods,—not over 200 tons, or enough to ballast the steamer to Aspinwall, as was the case with the steamer of the 10th,—which took 1652 kegs nails, 100 kegs horse shoes, 500 boxes tin, 111 cases boots, lot of hardware, etc., and also a lot of car-wheels, axles, etc., for the N. P. R. R. Co.

Markets generally quiet; breadstuffs a little firmer than for some days.

Wheat opened ½c higher, but lost ½c, closing quiet and steady.

Barley neglected but firm.

Pork in better demand and easier. Lard dull.

Rio coffee dull and easier.

Refined sugars moderately active with some irregularity in prices.

Teas quiet, but held firmly.

Hides dull, prices well sustained; sales of 20,000 California, 25c ℔ lb., thirty days.

Boston Wool Market

BOSTON, Jan. 10.—The wool market during the past week has been firm and the demand from manufacturers good. There was a large number of buyers in the market, but transactions were restricted by the firmness and indifference of holders. Full prices continue to rule. Sales of Ohio and Pennsylvania X XX and above at 49@55c; Michigan XX and No. 1 at 47@53, Wisconsin X, 48c; New Hampshire and Illinois fleeces, 45@55c; delaine and combing coarse, fine and medium, 45@55c; Georgia, 44½c; Kentucky, 43@45c territory, 20@40c; Texas, 27@35c; unwashed and unmerchantable fleeces, 27@[illegible]; super and X pulled, 45@46; scoured, 41@75c; spring California, 32@42c; fall do, 22@37c; tub washed, 52½c. Total sales of week, 2,811,800 pounds, in which were 1,327,800 domestic.

CHRONIC AND DIFFICULT DISEASES.

He has become an expert in the treatment of disease, weakness and derangement of the reproductive organs of both male and female, including diseases caused by the

FOLLIES OF YOUTH,

Such as SPERMATORRHEA, or SEMINAL WEAKNESS, or LOSS OF PERFECT VITALITY. Nearly two-thirds of all the Chronic Diseases spring, either directly or indirectly, from some derangement of the sexual system, and yet this subject is neglected by the majority of the Medical Profession.

I know that persons who are unfortunate enough to be afflicted by any form of sexual disease have a delicacy in calling upon the proper physician in time, from a sense of modesty and sometimes from ignorance, and permit those diseases to exist until their constitutions become corrupted, their organization broken down and the hope of future happiness blighted, until death becomes a welcome messenger to carry them out of their miserable existence.

Everything strictly confidential under all circumstances.

Lost manhood perfectly restored.

Catarrh, Bronchitis, Throat Diseases, Skin Diseases, Rheumatism, Kidney Complaint and all Diseases of the Eye and Ear, Stomach and Bladder, he can cure without fail.
